

2. We also use relative clauses to give more information about a person, thing or situation:

“Steve Jobs, who was 56, died of cancer.”

“The software, which was developed using agile methodologies.”

With this kind of relative clause, we use commas (,) to separate it from the rest of the sentence.

Be careful!

In this kind of relative clause, we cannot use that:

“Steve Jobs, who was 56, died of cancer.”

(NOT ~~Steve Jobs, that was 56, died of cancer.~~)

and we cannot leave out the pronoun:

(NOT ~~The software, was developed.~~)

3. We use whose as the possessive form of who:

This is George, whose code caused the bug.
