

4- In 1964, Isaac Asimov predicted what the world would be in 2014. Discuss with your classmates if he got it right.

If you are interested in knowing more about the predictions, read the article at the end of this unit.

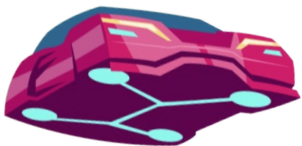

1. People will continue to live further away from nature. They will create an environment that will suit them better.

2. Robots will neither be common nor very good in 2014, but they will exist.

3. Vehicles will not be driven by people.

4. Population pressure will force people to live in desert and polar areas.

5. In the future, people won't work.
