2- Complete the dialogue using the verbs in parentheses with the correct form of present perfect:

Team Lead (Alex): John, _____ you _____[1] (receive) any feedback from the client regarding the latest software update?

Dev (John): Yes, Alex, I _____[2] (be) in close contact with the client, and they _____[3] (provide) valuable feedback.

Alex: That's great to hear. _____ you _____[4] (address) the issues they raised?

John: Yes, I_____ already _____[5] (implement) most of their suggestions. The software is now more aligned with their requirements.

Alex: Excellent. I _____ also _____[6] (notice) that you _____[7] (take) the initiative to gather feedback from the end-users. How many responses _____ you _____[8] (collect) so far?

John: I'_____[9] (gather) feedback from about 50 users. The feedback _____[10] (help) us identify areas for improvement.

Alex: That's impressive. _____ you _____[11] (analyze) the feedback to find common trends or recurring issues?

John: Yes, I'_____[12] (conduct) a thorough analysis, and I _____[13] (identify) a few common trends. I believe these insights will guide our future development efforts.

Alex: That's exactly what we need. It's important that we use feedback to continuously enhance our software. _____ you _____[14] (share) your findings with the team?

John: I'_____ already _____[15] (present) the findings to the team, and we're in the process of devising a plan for further enhancements.